About EURATEX

For the past 30 years, EURATEX has been the voice of the European textile and clothing industry in Europe. EURATEX works to achieve a favourable environment within the European Union for design, development, manufacture and marketing of textile and clothing products.

The EU textile and clothing industry, with around 196,000 companies employing 1.2 million workers, is an essential pillar of the local economy across many EU regions. With a €166 billion of turnover, the industry is a global player successfully commercializing high added value products on growing markets around the world.

Brussels Textiles Forum

The Brussels Textiles Forum is EURATEX's flagship annual policy event, bringing together industry leaders, policymakers, and stakeholders from across the European textile and clothing ecosystem.

The 2026 edition will mark the third edition of this successful platform, which has quickly established itself as a key moment for dialogue between the textile industry and European institutions on the future of the sector.

The Forum provides a space to discuss the major policy, economic, and industrial challenges shaping the textile ecosystem in Europe. Topics typically include industrial competitiveness, sustainability legislation, circular economy, energy and innovation, trade and global supply chains, and the role of textiles in strategic value chains such as defence, mobility, and healthcare.

Sponsor

The Brussels Textiles Forum offers a unique platform to increase visibility within the European textile and clothing ecosystem. The event has quickly established itself as a key meeting point for dialogue between the textile industry and EU institutions.

The Forum is expected to gather around 200 participants from across Europe, including representatives from EU institutions, national authorities, companies, research organisations and industry associations. With high-level speakers and a strong policy focus, the event provides an excellent opportunity for sponsors to enhance their visibility, engage with decision-makers, and position themselves at the centre of discussions shaping the future of the European textile sector.

The venue

The Brussels Textiles Forum takes place at De Warande, one of Brussels' most distinguished private members' clubs. Founded in 1988, the club brings together leading figures from business, politics, academia, and civil society, creating a unique environment for high-level dialogue and networking.

Located in the historic Hôtel Empain, opposite Brussels Park and close to the European and political institutions, De Warande combines historic architecture with refined meeting spaces and elegant salons. Its exclusive character and tradition of hosting debates, conferences, and high-level gatherings make it an ideal setting for strategic discussions on the future of European industry.
